WINDSOR LADIES' SWIMMING CLUB

[Windsor Ladies' Swimming Club was established in 1912. It used the Ladies' Swimming Baths (later known as the Western Swimming Baths) constructed in the River Thames at Baths Island in c.1904 or 1909 (mainly for special occasions such as galas), and also swam in the river. Members swam, dived and played water polo, all on a competitive basis.

The club was in abeyance during the Second World War, and was revived in 1947. After the Windsor Corporation Baths closed in 1948, the club swam at various pools in the area, mainly at Slough Social Centre (from 1948) and Maidenhead Swimming Baths (from 1950). The river was only used for special races.]
