LEYTON SCHOOL BOARD 1874 - 1904

Formed 1874 at which time there were two National Schools only at Leyton and Leytonstone. The Board opened twelve schools by 1904, adopted the Leyton National School and began a Pupil Teachers' Centre.

A separate School Board for Wanstead was formed in 1880 after complaints from Leyton regarding the growing number of children in the Wanstead Slip (Cann Hall), area and that authority opened four schools in Cann Hall by 1903 (see L 58.9).

Leyton Urban District Council became a 'Part III' authority under the Education Act (1902), and therefore took over control of education in the whole Sanitary District from Leyton and Wanstead School Boards. The Council had already become responsible for technical education, having opened a technical institute in 1896 (see L 47.3 TI).
