NATIONAL UNION OF TEACHERS: STOCKPORT AND DISTRICT, NORTH EAST CHESHIRE AND NORTH CHESHIRE TEACHERS ASSOCIATIONS (DD/Nut)

The records were deposited in March 1982 by [REDACTED] through Manchester Studies.

Stockport and District Teachers Association was the local branch of the National Union of Elementary Teachers (from 1889 the National Union of Teachers). It appears to have covered a wide area and in the 1890's included, at least for a time, teachers from as far afield as Alderley Edge, Altrincham and Compstall. In 1889 'and District' was dropped from the title only to be reinstated about 1897; it was retained until 1949 although teachers within Cheshire County formed their own association in 1919.

Education Groups were established in the Stockport Association in 1959. Minutes of only two groups are included here, the Secondary Modern which ceased in 1967 and the Primary Section from its brief rebirth that year.

The North East Cheshire Teachers Association was founded in 1919. Although, according to the minutes, the Cheadle and Gatley area came under Cheadle and Wilmslow rather than North East Cheshire from 1937, teachers from schools in that area appear to have continued to be involved in the latter association until at least 1940. By 1952 Bredbury, Romiley and Marple teachers belonged to the East Cheshire Teachers Association.

The Stockport Metropolitan Teachers Association was formed in 1974 as a result of local government reorganisation. It covers an area similar to that of the Stockport and District in its early years.
