	INDEX TO VOLS I & II	195

INTRODUCTION

Justices of the peace were first introduced into the then existing eight counties of Wales, including Flintshire, by the Act of 27 Hen. VIII, c.5 (1536). Subsequent legislation, including the Acts of 27 Hen. VIII, c.26 (the Act of Union, 1536), and 34 & 35 Hen. VIII, c.26 (1543), completed the introduction of local government on the English model. The Act of Union created Denbighshire and four other new counties, and the Act of 1543 introduced justices of the peace and courts of Quarter Session into them. The 1543 Act also established courts of Great Sessions, which had civil and criminal jurisdiction similar to the English Assizes. These courts, peculiar to Wales, were abolished and the Assize system substituted by an Act of 1830 (1 Wm. IV, c.70).¹

The records of Denbighshire Quarter Sessions have survived in great quantity, and are earlier in date than those of any other Welsh county, apart from Caernarfonshire.² Most of the court's records for the period 1647-90, including two order books, are among the Chirk Castle MSS and Documents in the National Library of Wales, and a third order book is in the British Library. The explanation for this is that successive agents at Chirk Castle were also clerks of the peace at this period. These records are described briefly in Appendix I. The county records include only a recognizance book for the years 1649-95 (Vol. I, p.24).

From the 1690s there is a gap in the records until the county series of sessions rolls begins in 1706, and the order books in 1714, although there are a few loose pages from order books of the mid-1690s (Vol. I, p.26). Few other items in the county records are earlier than 1700.

As well as the extensive series of enclosure awards and deposited plans of public undertakings (Vol. II, pp.1-68), there are major classes of records, such as land-tax assessments (Vol. II, pp. 108-14), and many minor series, which have not survived in Flintshire.

The numerous county bridges are well documented in the long series of contracts, articles, etc., which run from 1696 to about 1900 (Vol. I, pp.41-100). The records relating to the joint county bridges at Overton and Chirk, and to the county gaol (Vol. I, pp.102-18), reflect the activities of the architects Thomas Penson the elder (c.1760-1824), county surveyor of Flintshire, and his son, Thomas Penson the younger (1790-1859), county surveyor of Denbighshire; the great engineer, Thomas Telford; and the architect, Joseph Turner of Chester. There are records relating to the building and repair of county buildings (Vol. I, pp. 119-22), and to the establishment and administration of the police force (Vol. I, pp.123-5). The records of the county treasurer have been well preserved, with long runs of account books from 1698 and separate bills and vouchers from 1747 (Vol. I, pp.160-85), as well as early records of county rates (Vol. I, pp.186-90).

The survival of so many of the court's records may be due to the fact that in 1785-90 a purpose-built record office was constructed by the Denbighshire justices in Record Street, Ruthin, to house the county's Great Sessions records. These were removed to the Public Record Office in 1854, but as early as 1800 some of the Quarter Sessions records were housed in the building. They were transferred in 1972 to their present home in the newly-established record office in the old gaol.³

Also in the record office are the records of the Denbigh borough court of Quarter Sessions; these are described in Appendix II.

The county council, formed under the Local Government Act, 1888 (51 & 52 Vict., c.41), took over many of the administrative duties of Quarter Sessions, notably those relating to roads and bridges, county properties, county rates, licensing, lunatic asylums, diseases of animals and parliamentary elections. On 1 January 1972, under the Courts Act, 1971, both Quarter Sessions and Assizes were replaced by Crown Courts, administered by central government.

Access

Under the terms of the Public Records Act, 1967, records less than thirty years old are closed to public inspection.

Acknowledgements

The work of listing the records described in this volume has been carried out by many archivists, both past and present, on the staff of the record office—D.C. Castledine, R.K. Matthias, R.G. Thomas, C.J. Williams, J. Williams, and R.C. Williams—assisted by Carol Evans and Gwennan Williams, archive assistants. The final arrangement of the records was done by R.C. Williams, and the index compiled by C.J. Williams. The lists were typed over nearly two decades (beginning with a manual typewriter and ending with a word processor) by Ann Edwards.

DENBIGHSHIRE QUARTER SESSIONS RECORDS

COURT IN SESSION

SESSIONS ROLLS

QSD/SR

The sessions rolls comprise the documents accumulated at each meeting of the court. The more common items are:

Writs of venire facias ordering the sheriff to summon the juries and officials before the justices.

Nomina ministrorum: lists of persons summoned to attend the sessions, giving the names of the stewards and owners of lordships within the county; the mayors of Holt and (from 1858) Wrexham, the aldermen and bailiffs of the boroughs of Holt and Denbigh, and the aldermen of Ruthin; the coroners of Holt and Denbigh, and the county coroner; and the bailiffs and high constables of each hundred.

Lists of grand and petty juries.

Recognizances of persons bound over to keep the peace or to appear before the court (or, occasionally, at the Great Sessions), usually to answer a charge, to prosecute, or to give evidence. See also Process book (QSD/SP), Recognizance book (QSD/SB), Order books (QSD/SO), and Minute books (QSD/SM).

Presentments by the grand jury, high constables of hundreds, or by individual justices, of roads and bridges and county buildings (e.g. county or shire halls, houses of correction, and gaol) out of repair, and other nuisances. See also Order books (QSD/SO).

Indictments, generally by the grand jury, for assault, larceny, felony and other misdemeanours.

Depositions: examinations of defendants and informations of witnesses, often giving interesting circumstantial details. They relate to bastardy offences as well as criminal matters. From 1855 they were filed separately as Depositions (QSD/SD), although these survive from 1866 only.

Sacrament certificates required under the Test Act, 1673 (25 Chas.II, c.2), by persons holding public office. The certificate, signed by a minister and churchwardens, records that the person had received holy communion according to the rites of the established church.

Dissenting meeting house certificates, registering places of worship, under the Toleration Act (1 Wm. & Mary, c.18), 1688.

Bills and estimates for work on county bridges, the gaol, county or shire halls and other properties; bills for work done by the clerk of the peace; coroners' bills of expenses for taking inquisitions, often giving the name of the deceased and the verdict; bills from constables for conveying vagrants, transporting felons, and other expenses. From the mid-eighteenth century these were filed separately as Bills and vouchers (QSD/FA/5).

Removal orders for conveying paupers, with examinations, notices of appeal, bills for removal expenses, for relieving and transporting vagrants, and other related papers. Many documents are to be found in Treasurer's bills and vouchers (QSD/FA/5). Appeals by parishes against removal orders are recorded in the Order books (QSD/SO/1).

Petitions from destitute persons for relief, and from destitute prisoners in gaol; from parishioners for the repair of roads and bridges; and from individuals for payments to be made to them, etc.

Returns of persons qualified to serve as high constables of hundreds, prisoners in the county gaol, the local militia, and of the price of corn in Denbigh, Llangollen, Llanrwst, Ruthin and Wrexham markets. See also Treasurer's bills and vouchers (QSD/FA/5).

Money orders: orders for payment of money; later to be found in Treasurer's bills and vouchers (QSD/FA/5).

Certificates by justices of the completion of work on bridges and parish highways.

Convictions before justices out of sessions. See also Conviction papers (QSD/SQ).

DEPOSITIONS

QSD/SD

An Act to facilitate the Performance of the Duties of Justices of the Peace out of Sessions ... with respect to Persons charged with indictable Offences, 11 and 12 Victoria, c.42 (1848) gave justices the power to take written statements under oath from prisoners and witnesses, which were later read out in court as evidence. Before 1855, these depositions were filed on the quarter session rolls, but the Criminal Justice Act 18 and 19 Victoria, c.126 (1855) required these to be filed separately.

Insolvent Debtors

QSD/SP/2

Under the Insolvent Debtors Relief Act, 21 Geo.III, c.31 (1748), lists of debtors were presented to quarter sessions, while debtors themselves had to deliver schedules of their real and personal estate, all with a view to their discharge.

The Act, 5 Geo.IV, c.61 (1824), took away from Quarter sessions the administration of acts for the relief of insolvent debtors which were henceforth carried out by the Commissioner of the Court for the Relief of Insolvent Debtors. By section II the petitioning debtors were to deposit their books, papers and writings with the clerk of the peace.

SESSIONS BOOKS

Recognizance book

QSD/SB

This gives the names of the person bound over and his two sureties, their place of abode and occupations, the sums in which bound, and the reason for appearance: to appear before Quarter Sessions or Great Sessions, or to keep the peace. Entries are mostly in Latin. The first seven leaves for years 1647-9 have been torn out. For later recognizances see Order Books.

QSD/SB/1. Michaelmas 1649 - Easter 1695.

These are the formal record of the court's proceedings and relate to both administrative and judicial matters. They record, in Latin until 1733, the place at which each general or adjourned session was held and list the justices present. They include the following:

orders relating to the building and repair of county bridges, shire hall, gaol, houses of correction, and other county properties; levying of parish and county rates; appointments of county officials; payment of salaries and other expenses, including the conveying of vagrants and transporting of felons; appeals over the removal of paupers from one parish to another; appeals against rate assessments; orders relating to persons committed to or discharged from the county gaol and houses of correction; presentments of roads and bridges out of repair and other nuisances from 1736; recognizances (see also recognizance book 1649-95, QSD/SB/1); orders relating to bastardy; certain trials and punishments inflicted.

The first surviving order book listed below is marked 'No.3', and subsequent volumes are numbered accordingly. Two earlier order books, 1647-62 and 1662-75, are among the Chirk Castle MSS in the NLW, and one for 1675-88 is British Library Add. MS 40175 (photocopy available at Ruthin, NTD/17). Among the Erddig MSS at Hawarden is a copy order book, with some additional entries by John Mellor, 1714-24 (D/E/1282); there is a photocopy at Ruthin, NTD/598.

Minute books

QSD/SM

These are a summary record of the court's proceedings, written up in advance as far as possible, and annotated or added to by the clerk of the peace during the session. The order books were later written up from them. They relate to administrative and judicial matters and include trials and recognizances, but not presentments. Nos.10-13 in the series are described on their covers as order books, and in fact cover the gap between the first and second series. The entries from Michaelmas 1869 onwards are in a fair hand and are identical to those in the first volume of the order books, second series.

- QSD/SM/1. Trinity 1784 - Michaelmas 1792
2. Hilary 1793 - Michaelmas 1802
 3. Hilary 1803 - Michaelmas 1812. (At the end of vol. is a list of sums levied for the gaol and county bridges).

 14. Loose pages from earlier minute books. Michaelmas 1752, Easter 1779 - Michaelmas 1781 (incomplete).

These are similar in content to the minute books, but are entered in a fair hand and are the formal record. Entries relating to administrative matters are few, as these became the responsibility of the county council from 1889.

Money orders

QSD/SC

At each session, the justices issued orders for a payment of money and these orders were to be entered in money order books. ADMINISTRATION

ASSESSMENTS

QSD/AA

Rates of land carriage

Because waggoners and other carriers had raised the prices of carriage of goods in many places to excessive rates, the justices were authorised by 3 Wm. & Mary c.12, s.24 (1691) to assess and publish annually the rates of land carriage. The printed forms, and manuscript drafts, list the rates of carriage per weight and per mile. Goods which were excepted, and different rates on different roads, are specified. Occasionally the magistrates' names are listed at the bottom of the sheet.

- QSD/AA/1/1. Assessments, notices and correspondence, including rates for Cheshire and Shropshire and manuscript copy of Act of 3 Wm. & Mary c.12, s.24 (1691). 1806-24 (1 bdl.).

Rates for conveyance of vagrants

The Act II Wm.III, c.18 (1698/9) authorised the reimbursement from the county gaol rates of constables' expenses for conveying vagrants. The Act I Anne c.2. s.13 (1702) required justices to assess and make public the rates of conveyance and subsistence.

- QSD/AA/2/1. Table of allowances (co.Flint). 1823 (1 item).

Contracts, articles, bonds, specifications, copy orders, plans

The bundles in this series are variously comprised of bonds, articles, contracts, specifications, estimates and other associated papers concerned with the building, maintenance and repair of county and joint county bridges. In some instances plans, specifications and sections are also to be found.

The bundles are arranged chronologically and extend in time from 1695 to c.1884. The name of the bridge as it appears in the documents, the parish in which the bridge is located, the river spanned and the type of document provide the further heads under which the bundles are described. A topographical index to the bundles is located at the end of the list.

Returns

The Act of 9 Geo.IV, c.40 (1828) to 'amend the laws for the erection and regulation of county lunatic asylums, and more effectually to provide for the care and maintenance of pauper and criminal lunatics' required overseers of the poor to annually make out returns listing all insane persons chargeable to their parishes, specifying the name, sex and age of each lunatic, whether dangerous or not, where confined and at what expense. The returns, accompanied by a certificate from a physician, surgeon, or apothecary as to the state of each lunatic, were to be sent to the clerk of the peace, who in turn sent annual abstracts of the returns to the secretary of state and the commissioners in lunacy.

The Act of 5 & 6 Vict., c.57 (1842) for continuing the Poor Law Commission and for the amendment of the laws relating to the poor, and later legislation, required the clerk to each board of guardians, instead of overseers to make out annual returns to the clerk of the peace of all the lunatics chargeable to parishes within his union. The details given on the returns are the same as on the returns of the overseers.

Bills and vouchers

This series of documents expands upon records found in the sessions rolls. It includes bills and orders for payment for work on county bridges, county and shire halls, gaols and other county properties; bills from constables for apprehending, relieving and conveying vagrants, transporting felons and other expenses; returns of the price of corn at Llanrwst, Ruthin, Denbigh, Wrexham and Llangollen markets; orders for payments to militia men's families, and of the salaries and expenses of county officials, including the masters of the houses of correction at Ruthin, Denbigh and Wrexham and the county gaoler. From 1850 bundles only contain orders for payment, and from 1875 the police accounts no longer appear as separate bundles.

Militia

The Act 31 Geo.II, c.26 s.28 (1758) provided for the families of militiamen. When the militia was embodied and on actual service, parishes were to provide relief out of the poor rate for families unable to support themselves. These overseers' accounts, signed by one or two justices, were then sent to the county treasurer. In the case of the poor rate being insufficient, overseers might be reimbursed from county stock.

Where a man's family lived elsewhere than in the county in whose militia he was serving, overseers of the relieving parish were reimbursed by their county treasurer. The latter claimed payment from the county for which the man was serving through the appropriate county treasurer (see claims on and made by other counties).

The accounts give the names of militiamen, names of wives, number of children, abode, sometimes rank, for whom substituting (if applicable), number of weeks of relief, at what rate and amount.

Coroner

Bills

An Act for giving a proper reward to coroners for the due execution of their office, etc., 1752, (25 Geo.111, c.29) set coroners' fees for taking inquisitions. The Act directed that coroners should make out bills of their expenses and present them to the justices in Quarter Sessions, the money to be paid out of the county rates.

The bills give the deceaseds' parishes, names, dates of death, ages, dates of inquisitions, causes of death and the coroners' expenses.

The Denbighshire coroners' bills usually appear on the Quarter Sessions rolls, but those for the sessions listed below have been filed separately.

Prosecution allowances

Allowances to prosecutors of criminals for loss of time and trouble incurred were first authorised by 25 Geo.11, c.36 (1751/2), were subject to the discretion of the court, and were payable by the county. Later acts added to the number of cases in which such relief might be claimed. An Act of 7 Geo. IV, c.64 (1826) required Quarter Sessions to publish a table of prosecution allowances, after being approved by a justice of assize. The vouchers give names of those involved in the prosecution, allowances paid, names of defendants and the charges on which they appear.

Prior to 1815, a rate (also known as Quarter Tax) had been levied by Quarter Sessions to provide for county services including the repair of bridges and the relief of militiamen's wives. However, the system of assessment was unjust with great inequalities in proportion of rate charged on each parish. To rectify this situation, acts of 55 Geo.111, c.51 (1815) and 8-9 Vict., c.111 (1845) empowered Quarter Sessions to call for returns of rateable value from parish overseers and boards of guardians. The Act 27-28 Vict., c.39 (1864) further required clerks to assessment committees of each poor law union to return annually to the clerk of the peace totals of the gross estimated rental and rateable value for each parish within their union.

Precepts from the clerk of the peace requiring the money to be paid are addressed to the high constables of each hundred up to 1845 and to guardians of poor law unions (with a copy to the clerk of the union) and some parish overseers after that date.

APPENDIX I

DENBIGHSHIRE QUARTER SESSIONS RECORDS NOT IN THE RECORD OFFICE

RECORDS IN THE NATIONAL LIBRARY OF WALES

The record office has few quarter sessions records earlier in date than the first order book (1714) and sessions roll (1706). Most of the surviving seventeenth-century records are among the Chirk Castle MSS and Documents deposited in the National Library of Wales in 1932, and subsequently purchased by the library. They are described briefly in the library's Annual Report, 1931-2, p.54, and in more detail in the 'Schedule of Chirk Castle Manuscripts and Documents', Vol. 1 (1939).

These records include:

Order books 1647-62, 1662-75 [for 1675-88 see below]
Indictment book 1670-90
Precedent book 1661
Sessions rolls 1643-99
Estreats of fines and amercements 1641-97
Test Act registers and certificates 1673-90
Hearth tax returns 1662-71
Accounts of overseers of bridges 1665-78
Accounts and papers relating to maimed soldiers 1662-7

The presence of the records in the collection is explained by the fact that successive agents at Chirk Castle between 1625 and 1690 were also clerks of the peace; see D.L. Davies, 'County Bridge Building in Denbighshire in the mid-Seventeenth Century', Denbighshire Historical Society Transactions, Vol. 13 (1964), and J.S. Gardner, 'The Justices of the Peace in Denbighshire 1660-1699' (unpublished Ll.M. thesis, University of Wales, Aberystwyth), 1985.

Also in NLW are two volumes of memoranda of proceedings at quarter sessions, 1855-9, 1865-73; see Denbighshire Historical Society Transactions, Vol. 10 (1961), pp.226-30, Vol. 11 (1962), pp.120-1.

RECORDS IN THE BRITISH LIBRARY

A third order book, 1675-88, was presented to the British Library by Sir H. Lloyd Verney in 1926 (Add. MS 40,175). See the Bulletin of the Board of Celtic Studies, Vol. 5 Part 1 (1929), pp.45-54. There is a photocopy in the record office, NTD/17.

APPENDIX II

DENBIGH BOROUGH QUARTER SESSIONS RECORDS

The charter granted to the borough of Denbigh in 1662 gave its aldermen power to act as justices of the peace within the borough. The county justices were not to concern themselves with matters belonging to the office of justice within the borough, 'excepting in plaints and actions of appeal, felonies or murders and such like... which cannot be determined by the aldermen of the borough...' The borough lost its court of quarter sessions under the Municipal Corporations Act, 1835, but continued to have its own commission of the peace.

The court's surviving records are among the Denbigh borough records in the record office. Fuller details of these (apart from minute books, 1769-1834, received from private custody), will be found in the Handlist of the Denbigh Borough Records (Clwyd Record Office, 1975), pp.18-21.

The records include:

Minute books 1769-1834 (DD/DM/382/1-2)

Draft minute books 1806-35

Recognizance books 1812-35

Sessions papers incl. indictments, presentments, depositions, convictions, alehouse recognizances, bastardy bonds, sacrament certificates, etc. 1790-1835

Enclosure awards were made by Commissioners appointed under Private and Local Acts or the General Inclosure Acts. They relate to enclosure of either open fields and meadows or commons, heaths, greens and forests, or land of both types.

For enclosure agreements, the Act 29 Geo.II, c.36 (1756) permitted the lord and tenants of any manor to enclose common land by mutual agreement for planting and preserving timber. Such agreements were to be enrolled with the clerk of the peace.

PUBLIC UNDERTAKINGS : PLANS

The deposit with the clerk of the peace of plans of canals and navigations was required by standing orders of the House of Commons, 1792, which were subsequently extended to cover other schemes of a public utility nature involving a Parliamentary Bill. Standing orders of both Houses in 1836 required that railway plans should be on a scale of not less than four inches to the mile. A standing order of the Commons in 1837 extended this provision to all other plans, and also required the deposit of sealed duplicates. Many of these plans are for schemes never carried out.

In canal, road and railway plans, fields and buildings within about a quarter of a mile on each side of the proposed course are recorded in both plans and books of reference. Some plans give names of farms and other properties. The reference books give for each property the following details: number on plan, description, owner and occupier.
