THE WRITINGS
AND PAPERS
OF
JOHN HENRY NEWMAN
(1801 - 1890)

A BRIEF PRELIMINARY CHECKLIST.
compiled in connection with his Cause for Beatification

January 1980

A brief list of all Newman's published writings is given. Firstly, the titles of all his works which Newman edited into the Uniform Edition are given. Details of the first and subsequent dates of publication are not given but can be found in the Chronological list which is appended. A list of all posthumously published material is the second part of the breakdown. Lastly come brief details of the ephemeral material which was not reprinted in the Uniform edition or elsewhere.

Newman's unpublished papers are numerous. Details of his correspondence are not given as all letters which are known have been collected and are being published in The Letters and Diaries of John Henry Newman. All references are to the Archives of the Birmingham Oratory as all known papers, besides letters, are in these Archives with two exceptions and copies of these two papers are kept with the rest of the material at Birmingham. For convenience the list has been subdivided into nine general divisions. Some material (financial reviews, proofs etc) has not been individually itemised as it contains little more than an occasional note by Newman. It has to be said that few of these papers are of any importance for knowledge of Newman or the issue of his sanctity and even these few add hardly anything to the picture to be gained from his published works and letters. All are available for consultation.

Applications for access should be addressed to Gerard Tracey Esq., Librarian and Archivist,
The Oratory, Edgbaston, Birmingham B16 8UE

Series of copied extracts from Tridentine Decrees	D.2.3
Various fragments on ceremonial matters etc	D.2.6
Manuscript notes on Pius VII and Napoleon	D.5.10

There are a considerable number of transcriptions, notes etc of Newman's Catholic Sermons, for which he rarely preached from a continuous manuscript, which were taken down by people present, many by his literary executor. As there are nothing more than Sermon Notes to check these by, it is doubtful whether they can really be classified as Newman texts.

PAPERS IN THE ARCHIVES OF THE BIRMINGHAM
ORATORY

The Newman Correspondence

The approximately 21,000 extant letters of John Henry Newman are in the process of publication in the 31 volume edition of The Letters and Diaries of John Henry Newman - a project which is nearing completion. The original autographs of approximately $\frac{2}{3}$ of the correspondence are at the Oratory, together with albums and sets of Newman's own holograph copies of many of his letters. The Oratory possesses either photostats or authenticated transcripts of all known letters in other archives or repositories. The letters are filed together with the other side of the correspondence in the following series:

- a. 171 files of letters to ^{and from} particular individual correspondents.
- b. 60 files of correspondence between the various English Oratorian
- c. 81 files of correspondence concerned with various specific issues. Among the most important are: The British Critic (1 file); Tract 90 (2 files); The 'Movement towards Rome' (4 files); The Lives of the English Saints (2 files); Littlemore (2 files); Essay on Development (1 file); Early Days of the Oratory (2 files); Achilli Trial (4 files); The Rambler (7 files); The Oxford Oratory Question (6 files); The Apologia (4 files); The Letter to Pusey (3 files); The First Vatican Council (4 files); The Grammar of Assent (1 file); The Letter to the Duke of Norfolk (4 files); The Cardinalate (2 files).
- d. 68 files of miscellaneous letters, mostly to Newman.
- e. 22 files of copied letters.
- f. 9 files of 'Various Papers', mostly concerning trivial matters.
- g. Several files of papers concerning legal and financial matters

The Newman Papers

Are filed separately in Newman's room. There is a separate handlist which you already have a copy of.

The letters and papers of other Churchmen

Most of the letters are to Newman, at least those of the nineteenth century and are filed with the Newman correspondence. There are however some separate collections, such as the papers of William Palmer, Edward Caswell and Ignatius Ryder. I have indicated quantities according to file and each file (except those denoted large file) contains an average of 30-35 letters from the correspondent. I have indicated when there are letters in files concerned with specific issues as well.

✓ ACTON, Sir John Dalberg, Lord.

1 file of letters and many letters in files concerning the Rambler, also letters in files concerning the Oratory School, Oxford Oratory and the Apologia.

VON HUGEL, Baron Friedrich.

About four odd letters to Newman and about twelve to Ignatius Ryder.

The letters about Newman.

There is a large collection, dating from late in Newman's life to the present day, of nearly sixty files of correspondence concerning many aspects of Newman's life, thought, letters, papers, works, editions of works and scores of other points. The letters are chiefly to William Neville, Francis Joseph Bacchus, Henry Tristram and Charles Stephen Dessain.

[Gerard Tracey, Archivist. June 1985].

Also at the Oratory are 42 sermons 1848-73 and 214 outlines of sermons 1849-78, and noted in the published editions of his sermons. A further 244 Anglican sermons to 1843 are being prepared for publication. See HMC Birmingham Oratory corresp file, June 1985.
